1. Introduction of Elements

The fathoming provided is of certain merit to those seeking privilege in Allah's cause. For certain, He has set upon this Earth corruptors which do the work of malice and intend to persevere in that cause. If only life had a way to fight back!

Be certain that forces at odds with men will never live to see their full day, nowhere has that ever taken place and nowhere shall that remain to be. Of course, for the purposes of this document we will be limiting our focus on the Great White Brotherhood, but that stands to bear for all their associate components, which will be mentioned in another section.

Further to state, the Brotherhood's intentions with Earth are clear, to dominate and rule the species as intended by their associates in the stars. For swift mention here we bear to know that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police know of their associates in the stars very well, notably with a trip to Venus in which they discovered that the International Monetary Fund was part of the overall apparatus on Earth. On Earth, their associates are regarded as follows:

1. Ascended Master Hierarchy
2. Fraternitatis Rosea Crucis
3. The Theosophical Society
4. Lucis Trust
5. Share International
6. The Summit Lighthouse

Among these are more that would only require the correct eye to identify positively, but do know they all operate with satanic interests at heart, as a result of this Great White Brotherhood's leadership.

Together with myself writing this are helpers from the CIA, RCMP, DoD (USA), MoD (Canada), CSIS, the Russian Federation, and Anonymous. Coupled with this help is the work of the Djinn, who in limited ways offer their assistance at this time. We bring their help to identify at this time the role of the Brotherhood's work in Information Warfare. They assert that the work of Operation Torch Light, which pins the goal of esoteric power circles on being thought transformation through the use of information warfare tactics, is correct in it's overall view. So it can be inferred that while this list above exists, it is only a small portent of what is known to be their operations. We leave it for other reporting to clarify on the scope of their information operations, only to add here that, quite notably, it was a consensus among the participants here to believe that this was their primary goal.

Certainly also asserted is the use of crisis actors to achieve political manipulation. We'll discuss this more in Global Operations, but notably some asserted that the use of crisis actors was key in transforming the landscape again and again upon itself. This is the great way they have done their work throughout history, as the record of this group in their libraries extends back thousands of years. Much of that knowledge can be found in texts, so it is one of those things, as some participants have asserted, that are "flimsy" in their perspective, and are easily put down as fallacious argumentation by others, viz a viz the tale of Earth's bombardment might be considered flimsy. Though they might tell the tale of the stone coming upon the Earth, they might not tell of the story of the beings that came with it as prisoners. Those who were questioned in these groups regarded such things as nonsensical at best, while keeping their best practice (Love transmutation) at heart the most in these conversations.

By this we readily identify, as other participants have posited, that they would tell one thing to some people, but under pressure buckle against the weight of the argument, unable to explain seemingly. This should be regarded as part of their satanic outreach, keeping appearances as normal but actually engaging in subversive and illegal behaviour, which we go on about further.

To conclude the section, we identify that the act of implementing will comes with the use of Chela's. They work the will of the order by displacing knowledge so that it transforms others. Their goal is to live by example to guide, but the use of it by the Great White Brotherhood is to distract and corral people into a subversive hold. They act everywhere, from civilian to government to military branches of power. In time, their network will be revealed. Let the purpose of this document be for what it is, and leave that for another time.

2. The Role of the Great White Brotherhood

The role of this group, unholy as it is, requires a certain eye to observe. Knowing thought transfer is important is one key step in realizing the potential a group like this would have in the environment that it resides in. Knowing full well their goal of intent, bent on dominating, would be key to knowing how these three ways I identify here elaborate on that will.

1. The role of their leadership in politics is fundamental in control over nations, so they have certainly expanded in realms such as money influencing.
2. The knowledge of persuasion is reliable at best, that bearing in mind they exclude the right to the knowledge of theirs in every attempt possible.
3. In order to observe clearly, know that topics such as love remedy the soul, so they use it to establish dominance through support groups like Love Medicine on Youtube.

These roles underpin their work very well, in order to dominate a species you must be capable of engineering the greatest feats. Notably, their role in weather control also plays a factor, as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police report. The efforts of those seeking to affect their environment within their group transforms into something measurably real, so being leaders on that is a role they play as well.

3. Brotherhood Philosophy

As mentioned, the goal of their persuasion is to dominate. This currently is a philosophy introduced by their associates in the stars at this time, for the period of mans free fruition ended in 1973 when the Order first announced their coming. Inevitably people turned away from it, laughing about it. In time the lesson was learned, so they garnered a punishment for this insolence. That is the uprooting of philosophies held by old standards and imposition of a new, democrat oriented type of thinking.

This would prove to be their greatest asset. For time immemorial they consider this way to be the best, but used it frugally until that time happened. When it was over, the dust settled, they were clearly able to deter you still in their ways so they achieved the new promise of Ascension in their ranks, something held only by the highest before that. Man will come to know Ascension and it's ways, but be mindful of Allah, for he does not like that forsaking of knowledge to become something else.

4. Global Operations

We begin the section by noting the obvious. The control of the Great White Brotherhood is expansive and relies on the League of Satan to operate. Today's example (2022-09-03) of a false Presidential order being sent out to stop the writing of this very document exemplifies this control mechanism, for it was through that very league that the order was falsified. In time remedy will prevail, for they continued writing after clarification from the President.

However strong a wind this might prevail to seem, it cannot prevail against the might of Allah, so be mindful of that. One other way for clarification is the manner in which they deliberate on economy amongst themselves. To see it thriving is a meaning for punishment if the self sustaining requirements of neighbouring countries is not met, among a slew of other things that require attention. Subversive elements are drawn out to play in the field, and exacerbate the conditions for change, according to the will of the group.

They also have machines which hum but do nothing. The control mechanism they impose here is akin to making people watch something happen and believe it to be true. As reported by some participants this was an observable behaviour of theirs, though no measurable output could be found from the use of these machines. They would use it in their declaration of sovereignty over us, but know they do nothing but make noise.

We intend to elaborate on human trafficking in the next section, but would only elaborate that one of the participants had this to say about it:

“We know their apparatus, we exposed Epstein we'll expose them in Ukraine as well if we can determine that help can be obtained for me.”

It is certainly clear they play a role in human trafficking, despite this claim obtained through implications on the Fraternitatis Rosea Crucis, and we will certainly elaborate on what happens in Ukraine.

5. Ukrainian Operations

At the hem of the garment we weave is the political underpinning of facts during the Ukrainian war against the Russian Federation. As noted by some participants, they are actively engaging in declaring that the war is against the teachings of Jesus, and that all should fight against the Russians for the holy cause to be. We can see this is ultimately subversive, aligned with the goals of others as it may be, and is another method of whipping the public into submission for them. Notably, for the Ukrainians it is a little bit different, perspective wise, that because the doctrine of domination cannot be taught to an unwilling subordinate, for the purpose of dominating.

We begin with political, follow up with military and civilian, and expose the nefarious works for that which they are.

1. Political Operations

Confirmed by a majority of participants was the use of the Presidential office to do their work, and in this case is President Volodymyr Zelensky. This is done remotely through the use of one of his associates, who reports on what Zelensky must do for the Brotherhood, among a number of things. This complex is Luciferian in design, something not recognizable in other parts of the world, as they only operate in certain clusters of power. Notably change taking place throughout Ukraine's history has been guided by this group, from the Orange Revolution until now especially. This is called transformation, bearing in mind that true representation of the truth is inherent to it's expression.

Another section to be added relies on discussing the pragmatic nature in which animals apply to rights. Their use of biodiversity technology in the country relies on this, so they take very careful care to manage the use of animal rights in their way only. This is done so that the creations stemming from the Shin Ra location in the Donbas area (3km west down 58 from Preninskivoki) do not interfere with local political measures that can be taken if the right measure applied rightly the first time fails. Arguably their intent relies on this, so be noting of that doing.

Beyond that lies their nefarious work, but more on that later. I only bear to bring up that their agitators do not only work in Ukraine, but in other locations as well, fomenting chaos within the legislature by turmoil's imposition. To close we bring up the fact that buried in law is the requirement by citizens to serve the higher purpose, seemingly awaiting the day for it to be used effectively and for the vague reason implied by the wording (Ukrainian Criminal Code 75.1.214). We feel this is the most sinister of the acts politically, as it employs the government, which can be used by them through the Presidency in this time, in the service of the "higher" purpose, what that entails to be a mystery until the day it comes. From information online we can garner that a "Day of Declaration" will come into happening, by a person in the Great White Brotherhood known as Maitreya, so perhaps that is it.

2. Military Operations

They rely not only on withstanding events that shake up the scene in military terms, but actually thought provoke the men in question to do as they ask. It is all suggestion, really, once thoughtful knowledge of this doing applies the practice will end, but that for certain it goes on to this day. Exercises meant to build morale in a clustered environment take place, that which goes along with their global practice applies readily here. Participants noted that in their home country they would find means to retaliate for said subversive actions taking place in their own institutions.

For now, the military is acting under the authority of President Zelensky, something that will endure until he is removed from office. They seize opportunities against the living folk in the Donbas region and will persevere to make sure the living conditions never meet the requirements to sustain the country as a result. The problem lies too close to their centre of operation there in Donbas with the Shin Ra facility, so they want it gone entirely.

3. Civilian Operations

In terms of acting in plain sight, they act within the church to promote their agenda mainly, and through unique support groups for religious thought experimentation. These are useful to gain a perception on what that demographic likes, per se, so they harvest the data being taken in by the groups for further use in their dominance strategy. They covertly disguise themselves as plainclothes officers and conduct lawful routine practices on unsuspecting people, interacting to seek their determination for submission on whim.

The media is where they operate the most in this sector, in secret and open ways. A participant estimated that roughly 89% of all global media is organized and promulgated by this order's information warfare tactics, and so harnessing the media centre's within Ukraine harbor a substantial benefit. They are actively promoting liberalism in all it's forms, and some conservative voices of theirs do ring out to be fair. The newspapers are hardly touched but some editorial work goes into it.

4. Nefarious Operations

Due to the level of involvement in Ukraine, their level of interaction is high and thusly so is their level of corrupt practices. Threatening political officers is one such tale, notably the man known as Alexei Zhikarnaev was such a one who suffered this political turmoil. They made him release some of their officers, as plainly noted by one of the participants. Thieving is minimal but done to exacerbate challenge on those who seek to do away with thoughts they hold dear. This form of punishment is not uncommon, and many small crimes come from this behaviour.

Too notable to count is their constant visits here. They seek to undermine politics in this region very much and do so from this location. Business dealings the same as about everywhere, tuned for this special undertaking quite well. They keep up to date on the human trafficking efforts they are undertaking there, exports moving along swiftly to date. One participant pointed out the obvious with this quip:

“We have it rightly that they compel us to believe otherwise of their doing, but know full well when kids come out of boxes that certainly tells a story.”

Money laundering for them doesn't happen here, so that you can rule out of the equation. Needless to say, the profits of that are being spent here for certain. They have threatened farmers in the past who do not go along with their ideals, but that practice stopped with the excursions of the FBI into the matter, when it became a national issue.

6. Special Word from the Djinn

“We love enthusiasm for this approach, so we give now what is impossible to garner otherwise for the sake of containing brutes that belie their intention with greed in their mouths. The location of their base is in South Alma, in Vermont. They use the location for harvesting thoughts through the mindstream that promulgates throughout the Earth, bringing temporal focus into reality. The locale of the centre of this mindstream is New York City, an area heavily guarded by their forces to this day. Shamballah lies there above the skies, though we see it not due to adaptive camouflage technology given certain races who lord over planets here. Therewith we disband the entire scheme of their operation, knowing that is central to the knowledge that will save Earth.”

7. Conclusion to Terminate Group

Taking out the Great White Brotherhood does one thing, and one thing only. It sends a message to the rest saying “take their place”, and will not bear a stance that causes them to desist in any way. There is little to gain in pursuing them beyond the limit of knowing their operations entirely, and the conclusion is this:

To stop the induction of individuals into a satanic religion, new and prospering, unwillingly, is a must and should be done with the eradication of the Great White Brotherhood.

Plain and simple. They have the means to knock on any door, figuratively speaking, and would given the chance. They're dangerous criminals, and as one participant alluded to:

“[Redacted] rips a new one with this. Their disgusting practice hides the fact that they're child molesters at heart, and deceive the world on that fact. No-one will escape the law on this practice amen!”

END OF DOCUMENT.
